A Document of Which Its Authors Ought To Be Ashamed, Says Executive

SHOWS COWARDICE

Challenges Democrats To Look About Them and See
The State of The Nation

HARRISBURG, Sept. 14—"The Democratic platform is a shabby tissue of cowardice, fraud and evasion—a document of which its authors ought to be deeply ashamed for failing to meet realistically the major issues of the day." This is the reply Governor Edward Martin made when asked to comment on the Democratic platform.

Continuing Governor Martin said: "It is cowardly because, in failing to rise to these issues, it seeks to pretend they do not exist."

"It is fraudulent because it promises so-called 'benefits' to the State which would be impossible without doubling or trebling the tax rate."

"It is evasive because it tries to hide the fact that the Democratic candidates have sold out their party principles to the pro-Communist PAC. They have sold the power and patronage they hope to hold if elected in return for pressured votes and a gigantic political slush fund."

"I challenge the Democratic candidates to look about them and see the state of the nation after fourteen disastrous years of the New Deal, and to tell the voters of Pennsylvania what they propose to do about it."

"There are two all-important public issues, both of which must be met by the next Congress, which the Democratic platform wholly ignores."

"One is national bankruptcy. It comes nearer day by day. Runaway inflation is only a foretaste of the collapse, chaos and universal poverty that will result if inflation is not checked at the source, which is governmental improvidence and extravagance."

"The other major issue is Communism."

"If the Democratic candidates do not believe Communism is a menace, I invite them to start reading the newspapers."

"A truck strike, which the Democratic mayor of New York publicly branded as Communist, shut that great metropolis off from food and medicine, until it became, in the words of the New York Times, 'a dying city.'"

"A maritime strike which everyone knows the Communists had been planning for months, and which was timed to tie in with the Russian foreign policy, shut down all the major ports of the nation, including that of Philadelphia. This strike, openly and defiantly, was a strike against an agency of the United States government."

"Certain radical unions are seething with revolt by the members themselves against the Communist take-over at the top. Brain-trusters of the PAC are under fire in their own unions for being open Communists or fellow-travelers."

OPA Grants Increase of Two Cents for Sugar

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—A two-cent boost in retail sugar prices was announced today by OPA, which estimated it might add $200,000,000 to the cost of living during the next year.

Increases were granted at all levels of distribution from producers to retailers and on both beet and cane sugars, effective September 18.

But OPA warned grocers, wholesalers and distributors they cannot hold present sugar supplies until the price goes up and take "windfall profits."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Stream of Memoirs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. A STREAM of memoir books from persons more or less closely connected officially with the Roosevelt administration and with the late President, personally, is apparently on its way. All these books will purport to give "inside facts."

THOSE of Elliott Roosevelt and Donald M. Nelson are the first. Others are to come from former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and former Labor Secretary Frances Perkins. The Harry Hopkins memoirs are being prepared by that self-styled zealot, Mr. Robert Sherwood, and at least a half a dozen others are "in the works." Hardly any one in position to make disclosures and able to find a market is likely to resist the temptation. However, if one is to judge by the first two, these memoirs are not going to enhance the reputations of either the writers or the late Mr. Roosevelt.

CERTAINLY, the bad taste, malice and meanness of the Elliott Roosevelt books, while not at all likely to hurt Elliott's reputation, have put his father in a light so sorry that some of the latter's most ardent friends have been moved to protest, and the accuracy as well as the purposes of these "revelations" have been questioned.

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Youth problems which today are challenging America was the subject upon which Arnold Sorensen, a member of the Rotary Club in Philadelphia and a Boy Scout official in Delaware and Montgomery counties, spoke at a meeting of the Rotary Club in Doylestown, Wednesday evening.

In attempting to solve these problems, said Mr. Sorensen, Rotarians should put into practice their motto, "He profits most who serves the best."

The speaker pointed out that youth programs should not be planned for only one year, but they should be planned for the following year.

The youth of today, said Mr. Sorensen, is costing much and it will continue to cost much in the future. This, he continued, presents a great problem, but youths who are considered problems, often turn out later to be the best citizens.

Bringing his talk to a close, Mr. Sorensen said Rotarians cannot help solve the youth problems unless they practice the ethics of their own club.

Tyrol Hall Grange made plans this week for a community farm products show to be held in the Grange hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 9, under the supervision of the home economics committee, of which Mrs. Richard Burd is the chairman.

Four-H clubs and the people in the community who have farm produce will participate. Mr. and Mrs. John Whitehead will be the hosts on that occasion.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The AFL unions involved in the nine-day-old shipping strike won their wage demands, but CIO maritime unions went on strike, demanding the same benefits. Observers were hopeful that the new dispute would be settled and with it the walkout that has immobilized 1,200 vessels in Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf ports.

Northern and Southern coal operators disagreed over the terms to be offered to the United Mine Workers in the proposed contract to return the mines to private operation.

Secretary Wallace's address, in which he criticized British imperialism and a United States policy of "toughness" with Russia, aroused a furor. In Paris, Secretary Byrnes remained silent, but other members of the United States delegation felt the program he has been pursuing had been undermined. Other delegations were reportedly mystified over the direction of Washington's foreign policy.

President Truman, as a result of his endorsement of Mr. Wallace's speech, was the center of a heated controversy that was viewed as weakening bipartisan co-operation on foreign policy. Republican Senator Taft charged Mr. Truman was bidding for the favor of the Political Action Committee.

HUSBAND BRANDED LIAR BY THE COURT

Richard Hoin, Phila., Admits Sharing Room With A Woman

NON-SUPPORT CASE

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 14—When Richard Hoin, 2540 North Amber street, Philadelphia, admitted to President Judge Hiram H. Keller that he was sharing a room with a woman, that he was a member of the "52-20" club and had deceived a Bucks county court official about his earnings, he was branded a "liar" by the court and committed to the County Prison.

Hoin, who is $260 in the arrears on a support order for his wife and two daughters, was trapped in his room by a Bucks county court official. When he was questioned about a woman's dress hanging in his room, the defendant admitted that he was "sharing the room with a woman."

In court, here, on Wednesday afternoon the defendant told the name of the woman. President Judge Keller, who reprimanded the young man for his contempt of a court support order, said: "If the Government could keep you the county will keep you, too, but the difference is that you will be doing a little work while the county is keeping you."

With a support order of $18 a week for his wife and daughter hanging over his head and arrears of $166 pending, Edward Chesterman, of Abington, who appeared in court for a reduction on a support order, was the first ex-GI to be warned by the court that he had better pay up or he would go to prison.

Chesterman informed the court that he could not pay $18 a week for the support of his estranged wife and daughter while attending a business college under the GI Bill of Rights.

He informed the court that his $700 mustering out pay from both armed forces was "spent some how a long time ago."

NEW LABOR CRISIS

The United States now is well along in the second major crisis of the year.

While thus far the general effects have not been quite so universally disturbing as the rail, coal, steel and motorcar strikes some months ago, the wave is spreading rapidly and threatens to cause still greater confusion.

Transportation is, of course, one of the most sensitive of our economic factors. The dangerous present strikes are those of truckers and of maritime workers.

Unless government, on behalf of the whole people, rises to the occasion, there is no telling how completely the nation will be demoralized.

In the strike situation, several distinctive features have appeared.

For instance, never before has the hand of Communism been so clearly revealed.

Mayor O'Dwyer, New York's Democratic chief, says of the trucking strike that the union's affairs have been taken out of the hands of the union officials and that Communists are in control.

Pointing out that conditions in the metropolis are critical, with food and medicine cut off and tens of thousands of teamsters who want to work being intimidated into idleness, the Democratic Mayor demanded that Daniel Tobin, international president of the Teamsters' Union, intervene at once to prevent "bloodshed and injury."

Tobin will be remembered as the close and favored associate of the late President Roosevelt, the union leader who in campaign after campaign personally presented the President as "a friend of labor" whom union workers ought to help re-elect.

The sharp, almost bitter, tone of the Democratic Mayor's telegram, complaining among other things that in this crisis Tobin ducked out of reach and several days' attempts failed to locate him, is one token of the political repercussions which the strike crisis is causing.

For such a Democratic spokesman to reveal the Communist trends of the strike in such emphatic fashion, and to turn so angrily upon one of the closest labor colleagues of the New Deal, is a symptom of an approaching political breakup.

Pittsburgh saw a similar development which may be equally significant. In that city the Democratic Mayor, David Lawrence, former Democratic State Chairman and long a rival of Senator Guffey for command of the party, led an appeal for a court injunction to stop a power strike.

For a big-shot Democrat to rely on a labor injunction really is news. One of the main objections to the Case Bill, so far as New Deal "ideology" was concerned, was that it slightly restored the injunctive power of the Federal Courts.

For several years, the Pennsylvania laws permitting such injunctions, revived in 1939 at the same time the sit-down strike was banned here, have been under constant Democratic and labor attack as "crucifying" labor's rights.

Yet Democrat Lawrence used this law, and moreover, hailed the injunction in these words: "A burden has been lifted from this city and a disaster averted."

PLAN FOR A TRIP

Attendants of the bride at the Mulholland-Spadaccino wedding at 12 o'clock noon today were costumed in orchid and carried bouquets of fall blossoms in tones of orchid and yellow. The bride was attractively gowned in white satin.

The nuptial ceremony performed by the Rev. Fr. Peter Pinci in St. Ann's R. C. Church, united Miss Marianne J. Spadaccino, daughter of Mr. Almerindo Spadaccino, 913 Cedar street, and Mr. Thomas J. The bridal gown of white satin, entrain, had bodice trim of white beads and sequins, and featured a peplum. Her finger-tip length net veil was attached to a beaded tulle, and she wore white buckskin slippers.

Mrs. Eugene Spadaccino, Cedar street, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor; and Miss Helen Marino, Wood street, the bridesmaid. They were attractively costumed in floor-length gowns of orchid toned brocade taffeta. The gowns featured off-the-shoulder effect, and had peplums. Their mitts were of orchid brocade taffeta; and they wore silver tiaras and silver slippers. The crescent-shaped bouquets of both were composed of orchid asters and yellow pom-poms.

Forty guests will be served at dinner at Roman Hall, Trenton, N. J., and the reception this evening will take place at the Spadaccino home.

For a week's trip to New York, N. Y., Mrs. Mulholland has chosen a black ensemble. Her dress featuring a peplum is of crepe with trim of black sequins; her slippers and bag, a black material; and her large hat is felt. She will also wear a three-quarter length beige coat, and lavender orchid corsage.

The couple will reside for a time at 913 Cedar street, later moving to Parkland.

Gifts of the bride to her attendants were gold lockets set with diamond chips; while Mr. Mulholland presented the best man, Mr. Eugene Spadaccino, Cedar street; and usher, Mr. Leo Kelly, Philadelphia, with wallets. Mr. Spadaccino is a brother of the bride.

"OPEN AT THE TOP"

An American B-29 bomber is scheduled to take off soon at Honolulu on a 10,000-mile non-stop flight over the top of the world to Cairo, Egypt. The purpose behind the attempt, Army Air Force officers say openly, is to convince the people of this country that the United States is vulnerable to attack from across the Arctic.

There is another announced purpose, which is to test equipment and instruments under polar weather conditions. But that could have been accomplished in other and less spectacular ways. Indeed, it may be assumed that it has already been virtually achieved, for this venture would hardly have been undertaken if there were much doubt about its chances of success.

So the nation is called upon to witness a demonstration of what air power can mean in case of a future emergency. The Army Air Forces plan to provide an illustration of what General Spatz meant when he said the other day that America's defenses are "open at the top." And the citizenry is expected to conclude that something must be done now to remedy that condition.

As a matter of fact, it seems likely that Americans already have a fairly clear understanding of the need for adequate defenses against a possible assault from the north. After all, it was more than nine years ago that Russian airmen flew across the Arctic from Moscow to San Jacinto, Calif., and everyone is aware that aviation has advanced many a long stride since.

But the proof, assuming a successful flight for the "Pacusan Dream Boat," will be a useful reminder that the age foreshadowed then has arrived.

TO PAY A DEBT

To no group of citizens does this country owe a greater debt than to the servicemen who came back disabled or physically handicapped in World War II. This is not a debt which can be written off with pensions or disability payments alone. The great majority of these men want the chance to work, to support their families, and to lead normal lives.

It is good to know that the Veterans Administration and industry now are embarking jointly on a program which promises to meet the country's obligation to these men. There are many jobs which can be done as well by a man who has lost his hearing, his eyesight or one or more of his limbs as by a man with all his normal faculties.

According to Dr. Donald A. Covatt, VA assistant medical director, the goal is to place virtually all of the nation's physically handicapped World War II veterans in gainful employment. "We have proved to industry," he says, "that the man who had the courage to fight for his country and the even greater courage to overcome the physical handicap of a double amputation or a broken back is the kind of worker an employer wants and needs."

NEW LABOR CRISIS

The maritime strike is clearly a Communist demonstration, planned at the international level. AFL leaders in other unions are saying as much. The strike itself is openly against the government's wage ceilings.

Meanwhile one of the most important CIO moves to throw the Communists out of power from the inside has failed completely.

This is a development of great significance, for the officials who were under fire are the same men who are brainstraining the PAC, to which the Democratic slate in this state already has sold out.

Led by two Philadelphia union men, Harry Block and James B. Carey, a faction of the powerful United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' Union had demanded a purge of Communists—which would have unseated the union's key officials.

The fight produced a deadlock which had to be broken by Philip Murray, national head of the CIO. Murray made a speech to the convention which said that CIO "is not going to be bothered—not too much at least—with the ideological mumblings of any group hell-bent on destroying it."

Whatever he meant by this ambiguous remark, which could have been applied to either the Communists or the anti-Communists, the union membership took it as being a support of the existing leadership, and they left the Communists in control.

Nevertheless, the repercussions of this event, with its evidence of Communist domination of CIO-PAC and its proof that the Communists really are entrenched in both organizations, will long be felt.

The broad picture presented by the strike crisis is enough, almost by itself, to prove the Communist and pro-Russian influence behind it.

No labor group in America stands to profit by these tactics. There is only one possible theory on which they could be deemed about to gain, and that is on the assumption that they hope to plunge the nation squarely into a labor dictatorship before the November elections can be held. This is not going to happen.

If there ever was any doubt about the outcome of these approaching elections, surely these new unrestrained strikes have settled it. The American electorate is not minded to condone such subversive and destructive programs, nor is it going to "vindicate" the spineless and abject attitude of the Democratic national government.

Neither the Democrats nor the labor radicals can hope for more than temporary gains. Who then does gain? Who else but Stalin!

Russia has finally run her course on the easy-going appeasement policy, in which Communists in our State Department unquestionably had a large part; and is now faced with a "tough" American policy.

If she can so demoralize this nation, in the foreign situation, with an economic crisis growing out of strikes such as those now underway, she will have little to fear from our "toughness." Hence the strikes.

An organization meeting of the newly-appointed trustees of the Southampton Memorial Playground and Youth Center will be held in the high school on Monday evening when they will take over the responsibility for the completion of the memorial project that has been handled to date by a community committee.

Considerable progress has been made in connection with the project during the past few months. The non-profit corporation charter has been granted by the state, and the deed for the approximate two acres of ground upon which buildings is to be erected has been drawn by the donors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Ermentrout, and turned over to the corporation.

The Great Game of Politics

been questioned. Recently, his words were used by Mr. Kenneth G. Crawford, an able and ardent admirer of the late President, to make the very sound point that Mr. Roosevelt's reputation suffers these days far more from the "discreditable misconceptions" of his relatives and dearest friends than from any attack either by Republicans or anti-Roosevelt Democrats.

IN FACT, if there has been any favorable comment from any reviewer either of the right or the left, either from the political friends of his father or his foes, it has not as yet become public. The bumping and bruising of this insensitive and indelicate young man, whose financial transactions have done so much to tarnish the record of his father, seems to have appalled the most devout worshippers of the late Mr. Roosevelt more than they have disgusted those who neither liked nor admired him. The latter have not taken as worthy of comment the Elliott attack on Mr. Churchill, his defense of Russia—or anything else in this trash and silly book. Mostly, these have estimated the amount of money he will get from his magazine articles and from the book itself. Adding this to the amount he made, with the help of his father, through the settlement of some $500,000 of borrowed money at the rate of 2 cents on the dollar—they let it go at that.

AS FOR Mr. Nelson, whose record as head of the War Production Board was nothing to rush up to the roof and cheer about, there is this to be said about his book. It will do the late Mr. Roosevelt's record no harm in the way Elliott's book does, in that he makes Mr. Roosevelt out neither a vain man nor a false friend, but certainly it will do Mr. Nelson no good. Very few persons claim now that Mr. Nelson was a great success in his job. It has been charged that he held on to it a long time because he played in very close with the late Mr. Hopkins, who was closer than all others to the late President.

BUT in the end, the latter, always reluctant to let a man go or admit a mistake, was compelled by the mess into which things had gotten to ease Mr. Nelson out of his job and send him on a more or less ridiculous mission to China, accompanied by the usual highly publicized but wholly meaningless Presidential letters of high esteem and appreciation. Certainly, that is a widely held view which has appeared in print. In his book, Mr. Nelson "bares a plot" in 1943 of the heads of the Army and Navy along with War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes (now Secretary of State) to throw him out as WPB chief and install Mr. B. M. Baruch in his place.

ASIDE FROM the well-known fact that Mr. Baruch would not have taken the place had it then been offered, had once refused it and, from the start, had done all he could to make Mr. Nelson a success, the obvious comment on this "plot" which Mr. Nelson "bares" is that if it had succeeded, it would have furthered the war effort, been very greatly in the national interests, and a credit to the plotters. One wonders how much of this personal memoir stuff the reading American public can stand without gagging.

SAFETY ON THE STREETS

This Little Miss is so intent on guiding her doll carriage over the curb and across the street that she has forgotten to watch out for cars that may turn the corner. Thoughtful drivers will give her right of way.

Only a Very Alert Driver with brakes in perfect order can avert tragedy when youngsters bound out from between parked cars into his path.

Walking On the wrong side of a rural highway is very dangerous.

Mr. Motorist Can't do anything about this; parents can. Children must be taught not to take a chance of beating train headed for a crossing.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

The lifting of gas rationing, the return to post-war speed limits on the highways, and the generally stepped-up flow of traffic as a slowly but steadily increasing number of new cars appears on the roads bids fair to send 1946 down in automobile history as a year that rolled back progress in safety on the streets.

And because, last year, traffic deaths in the school age group 5-14 led all other types—traffic reverse turn in the downward trend that has prevailed in such deaths since 1922—and all present signs point to even more fatalities this year—safety experts are sending out a desperate plea to motorists to be constantly on the alert for the unpredictable acts of youngsters that are largely responsible for piling up these dreadful statistics.

Pictured here are some of the most common ways in which children are hurt or killed in traffic accidents. Watch out for them, Mr. and Mrs. Motorist!

CALVARY-CORNWELLS RESUME "SERIES"

It will be Sam Lombardo opposing Dale Smith as Cornwells and Calvary resume play in the "best-of-three" game series for the championship of the Lower Bucks Church Softball League at the Croydon YMA Field this afternoon. Game is scheduled to start at 2:15.

Cornwells went one-up in the Series play when they swamped Calvary, 10-2, last week. Consequently, a victory for Cornwells today would bring the Series to a close, but should Calvary triumph today, then the Series would go the full three-game limit.

In the one series game, plus the play of the clubs during the regular season, Cornwells has had a definite edge in both the offensive and from the firing line. And it was this combination that gave Cornwells its decisive decision last week.

With Lombardo again working for Manager John Poston's club, the Suburban team is favored to win today's contest and thereby clinch the title. Lombardo did a four-inning relief stint last week and held Calvary to a solitary blow over that stretch.

To counteract Cornwells ace, Manager Lou Tomlinson will send Dale Smith to the mound in the hopes of prolonging the series and to even the score on Cornwells. During the season Smith had a record of 8 victories and two defeats, his pair of setbacks coming in the second half at the hands of Hulmeville and Bristol Presbyterian.

Calvary will not be as strong this week as last week inasmuch as Jack Spencer, who paced Calvary's offensive attack, and who also played well defensively, will not be on hand for today's game. It is also possible that John Toroni will not be available for this afternoon's fracas.

Probable starting line-ups for today's game:

Cornwells	Calvary
Marshall 1b	Dyer 1b
W. Poston ss	Eros 3b
Lamon c	L. Tomlinson ss
Hansen lf	P. Tomlinson c
Jones cf	M. Hart 1b
Whyte 2b	W. Tomlinson 2b
Mudie 2b	Brittingham cf
Fareno rf	Bauer rf
Lombardo p	Smith p

hands. If you say you are driving north, you don't have to point in that direction. Everybody knows where north is. Too many girls employ many gestures and that ruins poise.

Hand waving and arm stretching acrobatics are distracting to the observer. You know the kind of girl I mean. Arms going like a windmill. She is the jittery type. She is not a restful companion.

Hands are never as pretty as when in a state of repose, folded in the lap, thumbs crossed, fingers intertwined.

Husband Branded Liar By The Court

The case of William Kniese, who is now in the County Prison for contempt of a court order and is more than $3700 in arrears, was continued until next week.

District Attorney Edward G. Biester explained to the Court that the defendant, who operated a garage here at one time, was directed to pay a support order of $10 a week for his wife and three children in December 12, 1928.

In a juvenile court action November 27, 1942, disposition of the mother's and children's support took another turn. Mrs. Mary Walton Kniese has paid the sum of $1980.50 for the support of her children who are now in the Tabor Home, near here.

Bucks county has paid the sum of $3430 in addition to what the mother contributed. A deficit of $1419 remains.

Although the defendant was not in court, his counsel, Charles B. Ermentrout, agreed to withdraw from a Philadelphia bank the sum of $1500 which is in the name of the defendant and some settlement will be made at the future hearing.

The Court indicated that the defendant will not be released from prison until he furnishes bond in connection with the support order.

The Secret of Lovely Hands Is in Flexibility of The Wrists

By HELEN FOLLETT

DO YOUR hands behave prettily? Do they assume graceful poses? They can be eloquent or they can be yokelish, according to the manner in which they are used. Something for the beauty class to think about.

The secret of graceful hand movement is not only in the relationship of the fingers one to the other, but in the flexibility of the wrist. Sometimes the wrist, after a period of hard work—and most of us are doing just that these days—may be muscle bound. To ease up the strain, try the following exercise:

Extend Hands

Extend the hands straight out on a line with the elbows, palms upward. Curl up the fingers, petal fashion, using plenty of muscle pull. Then, with fingers tightly coiled within the palm, turn the hand from side to side, pivoting at the wrist.

First fingers meeting, the hand turning, little fingers meeting. Keep the elbows close to the sides of the body. Relax. Take first position and repeat the movements.

Hands extended straight forward from the elbow, palms downward. With a free movement at the wrist, wave bye-bye with fingers held close together. Let the fingers drop as far as they will go, lift them as high as you can. This exercise will make the wrists limber and the movements of the hands will have more grace.

New Ways with Canned Fish

Ninety per cent of the adults in this country and 85 per cent of the children like canned fish in some form, according to a recent national survey. Yet canned fish is not served as frequently as could be expected, simply because the average housewife doesn't have enough recipes to provide variety.

The time is ripe to open a fish school with a new line of canned fish recipes—some new bait to lure the family into a clamor for more of this protein-rich food in the convenient can.

Casting about a bit netted these salmon and tuna ideas for the fish reminder file—a good cook book will have the recipes; recipes are given below for the suggestions started:

- Salmon or tuna loaf
- Salmon or tuna Thermidor
- Curried salmon or tuna
- Salmon or tuna pie
- Salmon or tuna parsley omelet
- Salmon or tuna casserole with noodles or cooked vegetables and canned soup
- Mixed salmon or tuna salad
- Salmon or tuna soufflé
- Salmon or tuna stuffed baked potatoes

Blend salmon or tuna flakes with canned tomato or mushroom soup to make a bisque or chowder. Combine salmon with a sharp sauce as an hors d'oeuvre.

Broil salmon or tuna atop toasted English muffins and serve with hot cheese sauce.

Use salmon or tuna to stuff avocado as a first course.

Center salmon or tuna chunks on cold platter with potato salad, stuffed eggs and green pepper rings.

Serve mixture of salmon or tuna and mushrooms with scrambled eggs.

Scallop salmon or tuna with potato chips.

Creole salmon or tuna with potato chips.

Creole salmon or tuna with saffron rice.

Mold salmon or tuna in clear lime gelatin and cut in squares to serve.

*Salmon Thermidor

1 4-oz. can mushrooms

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 teaspoon paprika

1 lb. can salmon

2 tablespoons sherry flavoring

1 cup evaporated milk

2 egg yolks

1/4 teaspoon salt

Dash cayenne.

Saute the mushrooms in butter until lightly browned. Add paprika, salmon and simmer gently a few minutes. Stir in the slightly beaten egg yolks, milk and salt; cook slowly until thickened (3 minutes) stirring constantly. Add sherry. Pour into a shallow baking dish and sprinkle with cayenne. Place under broiler to brown. Makes six servings.

Variation: Tuna, clams, lobster, oysters, crab or mackerel may be used instead of salmon.

*Salmon Stuffed Potatoes

4 potatoes of uniform size for baking

2 teaspoons salt

1/2 teaspoon pepper

1 1-lb. can salmon drained and flaked

2 tablespoons butter

Scrub potatoes thoroughly. Dry and rub lightly with fat. Bake in a moderate oven (400 degrees F.) for about 1 hour or until soft. When done, cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out potato and mash. Add salt, pepper, and enough diluted milk to make potatoes light and fluffy. Carefully fold in salmon flakes. Refill potato shells with this filling, making sure not to pack them. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with butter. Reheat in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for approximately 10 minutes or until peaks are golden brown. Makes six servings.

*Quick Salmon Pie

2 cups seasoned medium white sauce

1 cup canned peas

3/4 cup grated American cheese

1 1-lb. can salmon drained and flaked

Combine white sauce, peas, salmon, and cheese. Place in greased casserole. Arrange small biscuits on top of salmon mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for approximately 20 minutes or until biscuits are golden brown. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Moonlight Sails On River Revived Here

Members and friends of the Anchor Yacht Club held their first moonlight sailing party since the war on Wednesday evening. Seven boats left the club boats at 7:30 loaded to capacity, and headed up river to the Bordentown Yacht Club, Bordentown, N. J.

To the surprise of Bordentown club the Bristol flotilla took over Bordentown club and by so doing revived an old river custom of club visiting on the Delaware.

After being welcomed by William Feaster, commodore of Bordentown club, entertainment and dancing were enjoyed, with group following.

The affair was very informal, and the first step was taken to revive interest in water sports and waterfront activities for which Bristol was once famous.

As it is the hope of the Anchor Yacht Club that the coming year will see many moonlight parties, the club invites all interested in sailing on the river to contact the club, which will co-operate in any way to further river-front activities.

Miss Sara Granzow, local dancing instructor, has been presented with a gold certificate from the Photo Screen Guild, Hollywood, Cal.

With this certificate goes to any of Miss Granzow's pupils the privilege of sending their photographs to the Guild, and this vying for the many prizes awarded by that organization. Prizes, the Guild states, are awarded in January, the Guild keeping on file thousands of pictures of talented children. When a girl or boy of certain age, and with certain talents, is desired for screen parts, these photos are given close scrutiny, and opportunity may be offered for jobs in the screen capital. Children from two to 18 years of age may thus enroll.

The annual dance recital of the Granzow Studio will also be attended by talent scouts who have had the privilege of discovering such people as Jane Withers, Deana Durbin, and others.

Governor Martin Hits Platform of Democrats

"The Democratic platform pretends Communism is not an issue!

"Communism and bankruptcy are the twin dangers of this nation. They can be fought this year only by electing Republicans to office—most essentially, by electing a Republican majority in Congress.

"For Pennsylvanians, the big issue of the campaign is whether this state is to be run by the people who live in it, or by the alien influences which control the PAC.

"Do the people of Pennsylvania want to bring to Harrisburg the confusion and bumbling that exists at Washington or do they want to send to Washington the kind of government we have in Pennsylvania."

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. J. H. Queen
Pastor
Bethel A. M. E. Church, Bristol

Eternal God our Heavenly Father, deliver us from the curse of dealing in small things. We are prone to give our time to the inconsequential and trivial while we often neglect the fundamental and substantial. Help us to make each day count for Thee as we pursue the course for a constant faith and fulfill the task of unselfish service. Give us a proper perspective of our place in life that the kingdom may grow stronger through the contributions we make as individuals. Make central in our thinking the things that count with Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen.

HIBERNIANS AND ST. ANN'S TO MEET IN FOURTH GAME

"Saints" Are One Up On Hibos In The League Series

PITCHERS NOT NAMED

Both Managers Have Refused To Announce Their Selections

The Hibernians and St. Ann's will play the fourth game of their play-off series for the championship of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League tomorrow afternoon on Leedom's field. Game will begin promptly at three o'clock.

St. Ann's is one up on the Hibos winning two games, while the Hibos were credited with one.

The "Saints" have done remarkable fielding in the series and in the last two tilts have executed six double-plays, five of these in successive innings. Only one error was committed last week and in addition to the work of the infield, the outfielders have been making some fine catches.

Both managers, Joe Kervick, of the Hibos, and "Spike" Scordia, of St. Ann's, have refused to name their starting pitchers although indications again point towards Joe Berry and "Danny" Keegan.

For two successive Sundays, Keegan has beaten Berry on the mound and topped his performance by blanking the Hibernians last Sunday. In this tilt, the Hibos made seven hits, including a double by "Herb" Yates, and triple from the bat of "Camel" Breslin, but still was effective enough in the pinches to keep the Corson street boys from the plate.

Berry, on the other hand, has been pitching well enough to win ordinary ball games, but his mates are failing to solve Keegan in the pinches. Last week Berry held St. Ann's to three hits yet they scored two runs. Two of the three bingles were triples from the bats of "Bert" Barbetta and "Lou" Mari. The latter scored when he stole home in the eighth. The first St. Ann's run was the result of a walk to Palumbo, an error by Berry, a stolen base and an infield out.

The opposing catchers will be "Billy" Dea, for the Hibos, and Barney Ludwig, for St. Ann's. Both of these boys have been handling the slants of their pitchers in fine style and both have their share of nabbing would-be base-stealers.

The St. Ann's infield will be composed of Fred Barbetta, Bert Barbetta, "Rabbit" Palumbo, and "Lou" Mari, while the outfield will consist of Joe Pica, "Lou" Sassi, and Joe Cialella. "Lou" Sassi provided the most sensational catch of the season last week when he snared Joe Roe's bid for a hit in the eighth.

The Hibernians will use "Jobby" Dugan, "Chuck" Klein, "Wally" Oppman and "Herbie" Yates in the infield, with the outer garden being made up of "Camel" Breslin, Joe Roe, and "Billy" Gallagher.

FAVOR PETERMAN TO WIN HONORS IN CLASS I EVENTS

"Doc" Williams Now Leads Peterman In Season Standing

LIST OTHER ENTRIES

Dean Worcester Is To Be Back In The Group of Tomorrow's Lineup

Gil Peterman, hard-driving Bronx, N. Y., outboard race driver, who last week made a clean sweep of all Class 1 events at The Aquadrome, Bristol Pike and Neshaminy Creek, Eddington, is favored to win the feature event at The Aquadrome tomorrow. Doc Williams, local Eddington driver who leads Peterman in season standing by a scant 42 points, will be on hand to protect his lead.

Other entries in Class 1, fifty-mile-an-hour group, include Jack Schiedel, Orelana, Pa., who flipped last week when he hit Ed Van Houten, Kearney, N. J., in the final lap of the feature. Van Houten will be among the starters today as will Billy Watkins, Kensington; Byron Shannon, Audubon, N. J.; Ellsworth Downe, Cranford, N. J.; Johnnie Morlan, Bound Brook, N. J.; William Gardberg, Far Rockaway, N. Y.; and Henry Shakeshaft, White Plains, N. Y.

Ray Shilling, Kensington, who last week was forced out of the Class 2 feature for 60-mile-an-hour boats, when he crashed a turn buoy, will be on hand to challenge Class 2 Champion Doc Edwards of Kensington. Newcomer Phil Bowers, Sea Bright, N. J., who made an excellent showing in his first venture in the dangerous short-course type of outboard racing, is expected to offer plenty of competition as is Jim Baden, Washington, D. C. driver, who placed second in Class 2 last week.

Dean Worcester, missing from the starting group for the past two weeks, will be in tomorrow's lineup. Other Class 2 entries include Byron Shannon, Audubon, N. J.; Dutch Soliday, Middlesex, N. J.; John Zack, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Leo Griffin, Reading, Pa.; Art Souder, New Cumberland, Pa.; Gene Smith, South River, N. J.; and Tom Sundry, Westville, N. J.

Time trials are scheduled to begin at 1:00 p. m. The first of six scheduled events will start at 3:00 p. m.

TOPS COUNTRY'S OUTBOARD RACERS

JOHNSTOWN — (INS) — Mrs. Mary Kilenosky has established quite a church attendance record for her 81 years. She hasn't missed mass for 33 years or more than 1700 consecutive Sundays.

SCRANTON — (INS) — Passersby were astonished to learn that city hall doors were shut, windows sealed and employees on a two-day enforced vacation until it was discovered that cyanide gas had been released to kill vermin.

CONNELLSVILLE — (INS) — Former detective John C. Wall is still being treated for a throat slashing sustained 10 years ago when attacked by a prisoner. Physicians had no hope for recovery in 1936 when they learned Wall's windpipe had been severed but he responded to deft surgical treatment.

SCRANTON — (INS) — Firemen made up slightly for the many false alarms answered when they handled two fires on one alarm.

Walter "Doc" Edwards, Kensington, Pa., outboard motorboat racer pictured above, thus far during the 1946 racing season has won more first places than any other speedboat racer in the country. Edwards' family red-decked P-54, capable of a top speed of sixty-two miles an hour, without doubt one of the fastest Class 2 hydroplanes in the race business.

"Doc", who is shown above as he swings around one of the tight turns on the Aquadrome 1/4-mile speedway, has scored a nearly perfect record this season. In thirty-five starts Edwards has driven to twenty-eight first places and two seconds. Two upsets, two engine breakdowns account for four of the times he didn't finish in the money. The fifth no money start ended when Doc was tossed out on a turn.

Doc prefers to compete at The Aquadrome, Frankford Ave. and Neshaminy Creek, Eddington, Pa., where each Sunday at 3:00 p. m. the country's most daring boat drivers fight it out for cash on the tiny 1/4-mile artificial oval water speedway. The course, considered to be by far the most dangerous in the country and consequently the most challenging the driver's skill, is designed specially for spectator viewing.
